

COPENHAGEN PARITY RULES 2020

The Copenhagen Parity Rules sort teams into tiers in an attempt to make all teams viable for tournament play. Teams are intended to be roughly equal in power, except Gobbos, Halflings and Ogres, who are still supposed to be weaker – though arguably less so. Rules also encourage a more diverse skill selection than most tournaments.

Treasury: You get 1100K + a Tier Bonus to buy your team as per the standard league play rules. 11 (non-Star) roster players minimum. Tier 3-7 are allowed to buy up to 2 Star Players. Any Tier Bonus gold not spent in this way may be used to purchase Extra Skills.

Extra Skills: Any non-Star player may be given 1 skill at any price, or a combination of skills costing no more than 50K in total – as long as the purchased skill or skills are paid for with Tier Bonus gold. Bronze skills cost 10K each, Silver skills cost 20K each and Gold skills cost 30K each. A skill requiring a doubles roll costs +20K – and Loners pay an additional +20K on top of that if they take a Gold skill on doubles (=70K).

THE TEAMS

WOOD ELF TEAMS

The epitome of elegance, the wood elves ignore the violence preferred by so many other teams, relying on their natural athletic ability to keep them out of trouble and in the lead.

DARK ELF TEAMS

Evil incarnate, the dark elves enjoy nothing more than humiliating the opposition - and they are both agile and vicious enough to do so. Few teams escape the dark elves with just their pride in bandages.

LIZARDMAN TEAMS

Millenia after the exodus of the old ones, the loyal lizardmen still try to implement their great plan, and one of their means of worship is blood bowl. Deep in the lustrian jungles, beyond the reach of 'civilisation', blood bowl is still played the way it was meant to be.

BRETONNIAN TEAMS

In the fair land of Bretonnia arrogant Bretonnian nobles and their yeomen are questing for an alternative grail - the Bloodweiser trophy. Convinced of their own skill, the young knights fill out their team with lineman levy, drafted from the many local (and incompetent) all-peasant teams.
